Harding to Vote Against Three-Class Setup for Ohio's Schools

New Plan May Toss Presidents into Big Time

By JIM DARBY

Local reaction to a proposal to divide Ohio schools into three classes instead of two for basketball competition varies from positive opposition to indifference. Dewey Bohyer, Harding athletic director, said the new plan could only work a disadvantage to Harding. D. T. Mills, county superintendent, and Dr. A. J. Wagner, St. Mary athletic director, said the new plan would have no effect on other schools in the county.

Harold W. Emawiler, commissioner of the Ohio High School athletic association, has mailed out ballots in a referendum to settle the question, The Associated Press reports.

Harding would probably float in and out of the new AA class, Mr. Bohyer said, since the male enrollment hovers around the 400 mark, the dividing line between the proposed class A and AA.

Trouble As It Is

Harding already experiences difficulties in signing opponents because of the poor facilities for entertaining them on the home courts, he said. If these had been better, the Prexies would probably have been in speedier competition some time ago.

Schools in the county league and St. Mary would remain in class B even if the new proposals are adopted. The dividing line between class B and class A for four year high schools would be 149 boys. Male enrollment at all Marion county schools except Harding falls well below that figure.

The proposal would divide Ohio schools into these classes:

Class B—All three-year high schools whose enrollment is 114 boys or less; all four-year high schools with enrollments of 149 boys or less.

Class A—All three-year high schools with male enrollments of between 115 and 399 inclusive and all four-year high schools with male enrollments of 150 to 399 inclusive.

Class AA—All high schools with 400 or more boys enrolled.

Middle Bracket Aided

By further subdividing Ohio high schools into three classes, the new ruling would give schools in the middle bracket—class A under the new set-up—a break. As it stands now those schools with too many boys enrolled to qualify for class B division must compete with schools with as high as five or six times their enrollment.

The recent state tournament is an example. Akron North has a male enrollment of 222 boys. Toledo Woodward had 758 boys. The new classification would put the two in different classes.

Training Camp Highlights

By The Associated Press

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., April 3—The New York Giants were here for a two-day stay with the Brooklyn Dodgers after breaking their Miami camp last night. The players still were talking about the Mexican league situation. Sal Maglie, who jumped to the south of the border loop, disclosed that offers had been made to Buddy Kerr, Bill Voiselle, Sid Gordon, Babe Young, Johnny Mize, Van Mungo and to a number of the Philadelphia Phils and Athletics who train nearby.

Yanks Roll Over Texas

FORT WORTH, Tex.—The New York Yankees continued their invasion of Texas today with their third straight joust with a Texas league club, this time the Fort Worth entry. The Yanks trounced Beaumont and yesterday came from behind to whip the Buffs at Houston, 10-5. Phil Rizzuto led a six-run Yank assault in the eighth inning with a three-run homer.

Negro Star Improves

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. — Jackie Robinson, the much publicized Negro infielder of the Montreal Royals, is looking better every day. He seems to have shed his early spring nervousness and yesterday he punched out two singles, stole a base, and handled five chances at second base perfectly as the Royals whipped the parent Brooklyn Dodgers, 6-1.

Prexy Cagers Hear OSU Coach, Ten Awarded Varsity Letters

Jack Graf, assistant basketball and football coach at Ohio State university, gave a description of the Ohio State basketball system at the annual basketball banquet of the Harding High school athletic association last night at the school. He illustrated his talk with movie shots from the Ohio State-New York university game played in Madison Square Garden last year.

He said that tentative arrangements are being made for the 1946-47 Ohio State basketball squad to make a swing around the West Coast and the South sometime after Christmas.

Basketball Banquet Billed by "Y" League

League trophies will be awarded to McMillen Feed, Isaly Dairy and Roecker's Bakery at a Y. M. C. A. basketball banquet April 12 at the "Y." The date was set at a meeting of the basketball commission last night.

Negotiations are underway for a guest speaker for the banquet but none has been definitely signed. Individual medals to be given the players of the first teams will be presented if the awards arrive in time.

The committee in charge asks all those planning to attend to let their managers know as soon as possible so reservations can be made

Reservations Needed for Softball Dinner

Pennants will be presented to last season's softball winners, Schlairet Transfer, Universal Cooler and St. Mary at the annual softball commission banquet Wednesday, April 10 at the Y. M. C. A. Players of the winning teams and the managers and one representative of the other teams are invited.

The committee in charge stresses that all those planning to attend, those on the guest list included, should send their reservations to the Y. M. C. A. immediately.

55 TURN OUT FOR FIRST BALL PRACTICE

Harding Coach Wiley Sees Prospects of Good Club.

Fifty-five boys responded to the first call for baseball practice at Harding stadium yesterday. Owing to the soggy ground only a little light infield and pepper practice was possible.

Track practice was postponed until tonight because of weather.

Baseball Coach W. N. Wiley said the prospects for a good team are excellent. From one day observation he predicted that the infield and outfield will be strong. He has not yet had an opportunity to look over pitchers.

Indians Beat Cards, Take on Kansas City

By The Associated Press

CLEARWATER, Fla., April 3—The Indians were back at their training camp today for their lone exhibition with a minor league team, the Kansas City Blues, after meting out a high-powered trouncing to the Cardinals yesterday at St. Petersburg.

Without the guidance of Manager Lou Boudreau, who stayed at Clearwater to consult the guidance of Manager Lou Boudreau, who stayed at Clearwater to consult a dentist about an aching wisdom tooth, the Tribe walloped the Cards 7 to 3 in a 15-hit barrage, including homers by Bob Lemon and Dutch Meyer.

Lemon's circuit clout did no damage to his bid for a center field job. Boudreau has experimented with Lemon in that assignment, with the result that Felix Mackiewicz and Soup Campbell alternated in left field yesterday, where they have not played for years.

The Tribe's exhibition record now stands at 10 victories and 11 defeats.

Nat's records show that a few selected customers were charged $100 each, without tax, for ringside seats at the Jim Corbett-Peter Jackson fight in 1891 and for Corbett-John L. Sullivan in 1892. He also believes there was an English 25 pounds tab (then $125) for Georges Carpentier vs. Joe Beckett—which really must have been imposing on the public . . . And did you know that in 1873-79 Sullivan fought five times and earned a total of $320?

Sweet Billy Conn Is Sour on Free Advice on Battle

By The Associated Press

GREENWOOD LAKE, N. J., April 3—No one has to tell Billy Conn just how tough it's going to be to get into fighting shape for his June 19 date with Joe Louis, and right now Sweet William is somewhat soured on all the free advice he's been getting about it lately.

After nearly four years in the Army, he knows he and the Brown Bomber have the toughest job in front of them any two ear scramblers ever had. He and Manager Johnny Ray have lined up a program of conditioning here at their lakefront camp the like of which makes any previous training grind look like two weeks vacation with pay.

Scheduled for the next 10 weeks are more than 600 rounds of boxing—as much as a dozen or 15 rounds daily when the factory starts running full time in three weeks or so—with about 20 sparring partners who have direct orders to beat Billy's brains in if they can. And the sparmates will get cash bonuses for the best jobs of hammering.

"I can hear those experts screaming already," Billy grunted today as he bounced along the lakeshore on first roadwork chore. "Now they'll be worrying that I'll be going stale. Well, I wanna tip them off that Joe and I have been stale for four years. Now we have to do more work than ever before to shake that staleness out.

"This is one time there can't be anything like leaving anything in the gym when the fight comes up."

The Ray-Conn board of strategy mapped out the amoitious "sweat" program long before they lifted the curtain on the training camp here.

Conn didn't even wait long enough to go through the important routine of getting acquainted with the chef before going to work. He boxed two fast rounds with welterweight Sammy Schipani of Pittsburgh to sharpen up.

Cards' Officials Off To See Georgia Camp

Iberia Gets Uniforms; Baseball Tilts Set

Special to The Star

IBERIA—Coach Michael Embrescas has announced purchase of new basketball uniforms for the varsity. The new suits are white rayon material with Maroon and Gold trim, school letters and double numerals. Gold colored warm up jackets with white letters and numbers on a maroon background were ordered.

Supt. E. E. Bowman states the community's donations at the recent Varsity-Alumni game totaled over $50.

Baseball uniforms were ordered but the delivery dates are indefinite. The Iberia team has lost its first two games to Johnsville and Cardington and has eight more scheduled.

Wednesday the Presidents meet Edison at Edison and on Friday Marengo will play the Maroon and Gold team at Iberia at 3:30 p. m.

Quebec Paradise for All Sportsmen in Quest of Fishing

QUEBEC, P. Q.....(1946).... To understand why the Province of Quebec should remain the most remarkable fishing range on the North American continent is a simple matter after all.

In the first place, one must take physical geography into consideration. To the north, the boundaries of the Province meet the icy waters of Hudson Strait. To the west, they reach the expanse of Hudson Bay. To the east, they extend along the wilderness of Labrador and encompass the Gulf of St. Lawrence, where are situated the famed Quebec marine fisheries of North Shore, Gaspe Peninsula and Madeleine Islands. The southern part of the Province includes the beautiful Ottawa River and the great majestic St. Lawrence River; it borders on four American states, namely: New York, Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine.

The vast territory of the Province is nearly equal to the combined areas of the twenty-one states east of the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers. The Ice Age has left it strewn with thousands and thousands of lakes and streams, which are "young," according to the geologist.

While many of those lakes and streams are situated in open country, most of them shine amid deep forests touching the waterside.

Fish and game are plentiful thanks to such environment, and thanks also to a policy calculated to foster wildlife without unduly restricting the sportsman's activity.

In Quebec, old and new ways of living sometimes blend together harmoniously, sometimes contrast peculiarly, and that contributes to the pleasure of visitors attracted by the fame of the Province's paradise for fishermen.—Adv.

Pirate Rookie Wins Praise from Old Timers

By BILL BECKER
Associated Press Writer

You've heard this one before, sure—but there's a rookie in these parts who—

His name is Ralph Kiner, 23, ex-Naval Air Force ensign. He's a rangy outfielder (six feet, one and one-half, 180 pounds) and the way he's been mashing that apple has some of the veteran Pittsburgh Pirates muttering to themselves.

"It can't last," some of them say, but Manager Frankie Frisch and Coach Honus Wagner opine otherwise.

"We thought he might be a year or two away from the big league, but his showing indicates he's ready right now," says Frisch.

"Kiner has fine wrists and a good follow-through," adds Wagner, with the critical eye that brought him eight National league batting championships.

In his first dozen exhibition games, Kiner batted over .500, with more than half of his blows going for extra bases. Six were home runs. In one game against the Chicago White Sox, he lammed five-for-five, including a double and two homers, and drove in 10 runs.

In build and general demeanor, he resembles Ted Williams, except the Pirate rookie bats right-handed. Kiner is loose and graceful at the plate.

Afield and on the bases, he's fast and sure. He has the inside track on the center field job, although Johnny Barrett and Al Gionfriddo are providing strong competition.

Kiner, however, is not a Johnny-come-lately. The Pirates signed him five years ago, fresh out of Alhambra, Calif., High school. He knocked around two seasons at Albany in the Eastern league and part of 1943 with Toronto in the International loop before entering the Navy.

His batting figures, .279 and .256 with Albany and .236 with Toronto, are far from fancy, but he hits for distance.

He didn't play as much as some in the service, but the Navy apparently didn't harm his timing.

August 1 may find Kiner back at Toronto or some other Pittsburgh subsidiary, but not without a thorough test. The prize belter will be given ample opportunity to pummel pitching in the more rarefied atmosphere of the National league.

Sandow and LaDue Don Gloves Thursday

Marion wrestling fans are in for a lot of action Thursday at the Marion Armory when Monty LaDue and Young Sandow put on the gloves in a ten round grudge fight. LaDue claims it was the blow on the chin from Sandow that caused him to loose to Walberg last Thursday and challenged the kid from Chicago to a fight. One thing LaDue doesn't know is that Sandow was amateur champ in the Golden Gloves of Toledo before he turned to wrestling. Any way you look at it there will be a lot of gloves thrown Thursday night.

A big name in the wrestling world will make his first Marion appearance in four years. He is Danny Savich, the former All-American football player from the U. of Utah. He will meet Renee LaBell in the two hour wrestling match. Danny, during the war, served with the United States Air Forces. This match will be for the best two out of three falls.

Two Marion boys will wrestle the prelim at 8:30. No advance in prices. Call Markert & Lewis Cigar Store early for the best seats.—Adv.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

I HELD back my reply to Dicky until the first violence of his wrath at my revelation of Olina's plan had spent itself.

When the last of his explosive "and I mean" had trailed away and he had stalked—but not before he brought back some extra chosen "top sergeant" ones from his army camp—and mumbled away and he sat silent, but still breathing heavily, I ventured a tentative mollifying answer.

Like A Child

"I don't think she's deliberately planning any humiliation to Mary," I said. "She's simply acting like a child who unexpectedly has won a game, and is crying out exultantly: 'I beat! I beat!'"

I saw by the look in his eyes that I had "given him to think," but he was still stubborn in argument.

"That doesn't make it any easier for Mary," he said. "Look here! You telephone Olga and tell her that because of Mother's illness, none of us can come to the luncheon."

"That was my first impulse, Dicky," I said, "but when I was telling Mary about the—"

"Mess' is the word you want," my husband said, and although I knew that he still was filled with explosive wrath, yet I also saw that his athletic sports and his sense of humor were welling up through his anger.

Took Fresh Heart

I took fresh heart for my problem and smiled at him.

"Mess, it just right," I said. "But Mary is determined to plunge right into the middle of it. You couldn't drag her away from it with a tractor."

He frowned portentously. Then his brows relaxed, and he nodded.

"I can see her point of view," he said. "If she didn't go, she'd feel that she was quitting under fire. But why in the world did you have to tell Mary about it, when Mother's sudden attack gave you such a dandy chance to duck the whole thing? Not one of us would have shed a single tear, you know that."

"Not even me," I said dryly. "And I would not have told Mary except for my conviction that if we dodged the issue today, Olina would find some other opportunity to flaunt her ring and the betrothal, when you and I might not be present to give moral support to Mary."

Special Dispensation

"That's true," he admitted. "There's nothing to be gained by putting the thing off. But, as long as Mother is in no danger, isn't it a special dispensation of Providence that she can't be present at the luncheon?"

"Mary and I already have put up a special paean for that," I said, and then I gave him a long, significant look, and he drew both his hands high in the air.

"Don't shoot! I'll come down," he said with a twisted grin. "Of course Faith can't go to the luncheon. Heaven only knows what she might take it into her precious little pate to say. But how are you going to keep her from crying? Remember, if she cries, I stay here."

"I don't think she'll cry," I said sedately. "Katharine says she thinks she has a fool-proof scheme for making Faith want to stay down here while we go to the luncheon—provided you will play your part."

"What in thunder does she want me to do?" Dicky asked captiously.

A Grown-up Affair

"Simply to act as if you didn't want to go, but had to because you were invited," I said..."Katharine wants you to implant firmly in Faith's mind the idea that the luncheon is a most boring, grown-up affair that we are attending because we have to do so."

"I can do that all right," he said grimly, "but what about the boys?"

"I'll attend to them," I said "but we must all be careful not to overdo the thing if Noel's around. However, I'm hoping that Katharine's planning something which will keep Faith away from Noel and Mary until time to go to the luncheon."

"It will have to be good," Dicky said gloomily. "But tell me more about this plan of Olina's. Incidentally, it was decent of Olga to warn you. That must have taken a bit of doing for the proud ex-queen of Transvania."

New Alphabetical Term Makes Debut—Amfoge

By HAL BOYLE
AP Newsfeatures Writer

ATHENS, GREECE—Members of AMFOGE—the allied mission for observing the Greek elections—wear a blue and white owl on their Greek army berets. They themselves call it "the big eyed chicken," but leftwing Greeks who opposed the elections have a less complimentary interpretation of the significance of this old emblem.

"It stands," they say, "for the foreign visitors who sleep all day and stay up all night."

Hal Boyle

This partisan view of the AMFOGE personnel is not widely held, however. Most Greeks have made them feel welcome and say they feel that the presence of AMFOGE observers was a moderating influence in the elections.

Junior American officers assigned to AMFOGE, many of them combat veterans complain about the financial disparity between themselves and civilians attached to the mission. They say the soldier personnel get only $7 per day expense allowance while state department employees are getting $15.

Italian Campaign Recalled

Many of these troops tell amazing stories of the Italian campaign and the ingenious ruses of Mediterranean marketing followed.

One concerns two decorated American soldiers who approached an Italian boy bootblack late at night. Accustomed to the native propensity for black market operations, one said to the other, pointing at the whistling buddy who was out on his feet, and asked "How much you give me for my friend here?"

"Ten dollars," the boy answered unexpectedly. He pocketed the money and the first drunk pocketed it and staggered off into the darkness.

The bootblack then led the soldier he had "bought" into the nearest park and stripped him of his uniform, shoes, watch and underclothing. He abandoned his bare purchase to the cold breezes. He is supposed to have made about $200 profit on his investment.

Col. Norman E. Fiske of Portland, Ore., here on a brief military visit, was made military governor of Rome when the Allies took that capital. Before that he served five years as American military attache in Rome.

Tells Battle Story

His favorite story concerns two recruits who were told by a weary sergeant shortly after they reached the battlefront to go up and get a German machine gun that was slowing up the advance.

They disappeared slowly in painful belly crawls but quickly returned. Before they could say a word the German machine gun was heard sputtering again.

"I thought I told you to get that machine gun," the sergeant snorted angrily.

The two recruits looked at each other unhappily.

"Sergeant, we couldn't get that gun for you," one ventured finally. "It was being used."

Awards Presented at Scout Meeting

Newly elected officers were installed and rank and service awards presented Monday night at a Court of Honor meeting of Boy Scout Troop 17 of the Salvation Army. The Court of Honor ceremony was combined with the troop's second annual birthday party.

Officers installed were: Donald Runyan, chaplain; Charles Free, quartermaster; Don Atkinson, bugler; Jim Long, treasurer, and Dick Brown, scribe.

Two service stars representing two years' service as a den chief were presented to Boo Hypes and one star was presented to Dick Brown by Carl Watrous, troop committee chairman.

Owen Tolin, past assistant scoutmaster, presented plaques for the second class scout rank to Bob Hypes, Dick Bechtel, Donald McGraw and Charles Free. Service stars, representing two years' service in the troop, were presented to Eugene Gear, Dick Bechtel, Dick Brown, Donald Atkinson, Bob Hypes, Donald McGraw and Walter Green. One year's service stars were presented to Jesse Bevins and Bob McAdow. The service stars were presented by troop committeeman Bernard Seaton.

The meeting was opened with an invocation by Lt. Mary Davis of the Salvation Army. It was closed with the Scoutmaster's benediction by Scout Executive Hugh F. Hay. Other speakers were Capt. Mary Nesfewer of the Salvation Army, troop committeeman Carl Watrous and neighborhood committeeman Harry Woodhill.

Boxing matches were staged and guitar music was furnished by Louise Bowles and Carl and Clyde Pech.

2 SLAYERS ESCAPE FROM DEATH HOUSE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 3—Two convicted slayers made a daring break from death row in the District of Columbia jail today and fled with the uniforms of two police guards whom they left locked in cells.

The condemned men, Joseph D. Medley, 44, and Earl McFarland, 34, overpowered the guards at 4:15 a. m., police Capt. George Little said, and then calmly spent 45 minutes preparing to flee. At 5 a. m. one of them called the guard captain and reported all well in the cell block.

Then they let themselves down from the roof of the three story jail on a rope of twisted sheets, stole a car bearing Maryland license plates and drove away, police said.

Medley was found guilty of killing Mrs. Nancy Boyer after a poker game in her luxurious apartment on March 6, 1945. McFarland, a Marine veteran of the Guadalcanal campaign, was convicted of the shooting of Miss Dorothy Berman, 19-year-old government worker, on Oct. 5, 1944.

Upper Sandusky Rites Set for Mrs. Irwin

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, April 3—Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth Irwin, 82, who died Monday at the Home for the Aged in Upper Sandusky, will be held Thursday at 10 a. m. from the Bettsgreen & Co. funeral home here, with Rev. H. C. Kellermeyer, pastor of the Trinity Evangelical and Reformed church, officiating. Burial will be made in Oak Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Irwin, nee Elizabeth Grey, was born in County Meath, Ireland, May 8, 1857.

ACCIDENT REPORT

The account in The Star Monday of an automobile accident which occurred Saturday at the intersection of routes 203 and 739 near Green Camp, erroneously reported Mrs. Mary M. Gosnell of Green Camp as traveling on route 203. Mrs. Gosnell, who was slightly injured in the accident in which her car burned, was approaching route 203 from route 739 when another car pulled in front of hers. Route 203 is a stop road.

MacArthur Action To Guide Morals of Army Praised

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP News Analyst

Our troubled world could profit—if it would—from the stirring lesson which the outspoken General Douglas MacArthur has read us in calling on his Army chaplains to "exert strong and direct moral leadership" over occupation troops in Japan.

The special urgency of that advice is the fear expressed by some Americans that there is widespread, promiscuous relationship between members of the occupying forces and Japanese women of immoral character.

DewittMackenzie

The general states that several times he has commended the high standard maintained by our forces engaged in the occupation," and has been telling us to count that when Mr. Neverthemore he has acted promptly on the strength of letters received from American homes.

MacArthur, who never has been afraid to talk right out loud about spiritual and moral matters, has combined precept and action. He has taken measures to curb prostitution an to provide the troops with healthful recreation. But he recognizes that these alone are not a cure. He says moral leadership also is necessary.

Look At Europe

That is particularly impressive to your columnist who has just returned from a Europe which is suffering in many areas from moral and spiritual collapse. This is true not only of prostitution but of all other phases of life, and it is the general aspects of the situation to which I would direct your attention.

Important sections of the continent are in a shocking state of general immorality. That is one of the basic problems of rehabilitation.

So far as prostitution is concerned we've been hearing plenty about that from the Allied zones of occupation in Germany recently. This problem in the Reich is aggravated by the fact that Hitler deliberately schooled the younger generation in sexual immorality—taught the girls that it was their duty to bear men children out of wedlock to provide soldiers for their country. Naturally the young women who have accepted this doctrine have acquired elastic consciences.

Sex Not Only Issue

However, the sex problem is far from being the only one, for the whole moral fabric of Germany and some other countries is punched full of holes. The Reich is one of the worst spots because Hitler deliberately debased and savaged his people so that they would follow him in his program of slaughter and conquest.

They say every cloud has its silver lining, and the bright spot in this dark picture is that there still are Germans, like the famous Pastor Niemoeller, who recognize that moral reconstruction is essential to recovery.

Religious bodies irrespective of creed, are joining hands in this crusade which is being directed at all activities, including the political.

GALION, April 3—Announcement has been made of the marriage of Carl Monat of Galion to Mrs. Edna Hamlet of Sarasota, Fla., March 26, at the home of Rev. Lawrence Hutto, pastor of the Second Baptist church of Sarasota.

Mr. Monat was an optometrist in Galion and community for 25 years, his offices being located on Harding Way East until two years ago when they were moved to 231 North Columbus street.

OFFICIAL URGES NEW OHIO HEALTH LAWS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 3—Ohio needs a program for care and treatment of spastic paralysis victims who, lacking muscular control, often are branded as being mentally ill even though possessing normal, healthy minds, says Welfare Director Frazier Reams.

Reams told the 31st annual convention of the Ohio Hospital association here yesterday that a state school should be established to teach Ohioans afflicted with the birth injury to the central nervous system how to live normal lives.

The 500 delegates also heard Reams urge state correction of physical defects among Ohio's law-breakers.

Recent experiments, said Reams, have shown many cases of mental maladjustment among Ohio's 12,000 inmates of penal and correctional institutions were due to some type of physical disturbance or illness.

Other main welfare problems confronting the state are the need for raising safety and hygiene standards of homes caring for the Ohio's indigent aged, and establishment of more receiving hospitals for the mentally ill and the segregation of mentally ill tubercular patients, Reams said.

Also the "medieval" system of bringing a person into court to have him convicted of insanity before he can be institutionalized, soon should be replaced with a system under which any physician could enter a patient in a receiving hospital for the mentally ill at any time, Reams concluded.

tions, and that it had no reports of any loss of life. The Army also had no reports of deaths.

Dr. Archie Orenstein, Hawaii county physician, reported last night it might be necessary to take fingerprints of some bodies still unidentified so that they could be cremated promptly to forestall possible contagion.

Territorial Gov. Ingram M. Stainback, meeting with the Army, Navy and Red Cross officials named special representatives to direct the immense task of hurrying critical items and services to ravaged areas.

Stainback said the regional Civilian Production Administration office in San Francisco pledged top priorities for requisition of lumber and building materials. Reconstruction and rehabilitation will be handled largely by private business, with the territorial government clearing away red tape, he asserted.

Wrecked Hilo, city of 25,000 on the exposed shore of Hawaii island, reported adequate medical supplies, nurses and hospital facilities, but made hurry-up requests for food and clothing.

Diapers in Demand

Topping the list was the item of 8,000 diapers, plus several hundred sets of baby clothing and hundreds of adult-size garments.

Many families fled for their lives with such haste that they saved none of their belongings.

Far-reaching sea-air searches conducted by Army and Navy personnel continued, and rescues of individuals and small groups wanted far to sea were reported.

One of the search pilots, Navy Lt. (jg) S. P. Nemnich of Cleveland, Ohio, was handed a message as he landed to refuel, informing him his wife had given birth to a baby girl.

"What a time to have a baby," he said.

Three Injured as Truck and Automobile Collide

Three people were injured as the result of a collision between a paper truck driven by James L. Drake, 31, of 175 Park boulevard and a car driven by Thomas J. Elder, 28, of Caledonia, state highway patrolmen report. Elder and his wife, Mrs. Twila Elder, 25, are in City hospital where Elder is being treated for cuts and bruises on the face and Mrs. Elder for a possible fracture of the left leg. Drake was treated for broken ribs and released.

The accident occurred on route 95 just east of the city limits at 12:15 p. m. yesterday. Patrolmen said the Elder car was traveling east when Drake, who was traveling east, made a left turn into Coler avenue. Elder was unable

ARMY TO ACTIVATE RESERVE CORPS SOON

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 3—The war department announced yesterday that activation of organized reserve corps units will begin this summer as a third step in the creation of the post war army

The entire program if completed, will provide the nation with a reservoir of military strength at least six times greater than existed in 1939 when the regular Army National Guard and reserves together mustered a total of only 363,340 men

The first step in the program was the request to congress for continuation of the draft to assure a standing army of 1,550,000 on next July 1 with a subsequent reduction to 1,070,000 by July 1 1947 The second step was a recommendation that a National Guard of 622,300 be authorized

In preparing for the third step of activating reserve units the Army reported it has a substantial manpower pool to draw on Currently more than 225,000 officers of World War II have accepted commissions in the reserve and about 300,000 enlisted men have signed up

The organized reserve is viewed as a supplement to the regular Army and to the National Guard in the event of an emergency

U. S. OFFERS FARMERS "GAMBLE" ON WHEAT

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 3 The government today gave the farmer a chance to gamble on a possible future price rise in wheat and still sell his grain now for shipment to famine stricken areas

Under a special program designed to pull more than 100,000,000 bushels of the bread grain off farms during the next 90 days to meet urgent foreign needs the agriculture department will allow growers to dispose of their grain now and pick a future market price

This program was hit upon to combat a reported tendency of wheat farmers to hold their grain for possible higher prices Lending support to the belief that farm prices may go higher is strong support in congress for the so-called Pace farm parity bill which would raise the parity at 1 ceiling price of wheat from $1.50 to $2.10 a bushel nationally

Farmers selling wheat under the new program must select a future date which may not be later than March 31 1947 for determining the price they will get for their grain The price will be the market price prevailing on the chosen date Those who fail to designate a specific date will be required to take the market price of March 31 1947

One of New Quads Claimed by Death

By The Associated Press

LONGVIEW Wash, April 3—The excitement over the quadruplets born in nearby Kelso was dampened by the death of one of the tiny babies shortly before midnight last night

The infant boy listed only as C on the hospital birth chart was the third born of the three boys and one girl Earlier in the evening he had been reported as very weak and plans were made to place him in a separate incubator

Attendants at St John's hospital here say the remaining three children have a "pretty good" chance to survive

The quadruplets were born yesterday to Mrs Leo Pierce whose husband was killed a month ago in a mill accident.

Spaghetti Yes, but No Baloney

FIORELLO LaGUARDIA, the new director general of UNRRA, does not always make sense with his public utterances, so when he does they stand out like Jewel's race and serene. To get one to make, Mr. LaGuardia in his initial address told UNRRA delegates that he intended to get more food and less resolutions, more freight and fewer typewriters, more spaghetti and not so much liver tape.

This makes eminently sound sense to a nation of people who are being exhorted to save food, surrounded with official statements about famine conditions and their national commitments—but so far we have no assurance that their government is doing anything. It is reminiscent of the wind-up early in the war when official spokesmen were belaboring the people 24 hours a day to get behind the war effort while the people were waiting for the government to take the lead.

There was only one way then and there is only one way now for the American people to act. That is for the government, which is the people's instrument, to act for them. Washington is obsessed with the idea that propaganda is the real thing and that it must create popular action. In the matter of food relief, the popular opinion is there. It doesn't need to be created. If Fiorello LaGuardia has made that important discovery, he has won half the battle before he gets into action.

Martin L. Davey

Mr. Davey was among the first to question the infallibility of social workers at a time when they threatened to have all the answers. Many Ohioans will remember the incident of the new rug for the executive offices. His sparring matches with Washington were sensational, in an era when state governors crawled to Mecca on their bellies.

He presided in an era of strange arithmetic in public finances, but no stranger than the depression-juggling budgets common among his contituents. He tangled with the Ohio State University, that sacrosanct institution of learning and football; with unfriendly newspapers, which included nearly all of them; labor unions; other politicians; and a wide variety of experts, some acclaimed; many self-professed. He called out the guard to curb the CIO, reduced state taxes, battled the liquor interests and through all of it he talked. This long afterward, it is the talking that stands out. Since he left Columbus, talking has been out of style in Columbus. The governor's office runs as silently as a new automobile.

Ohioans mourn the passing of this man who was active in their public affairs for so many years. He was a lively influence. Things did not always run smoothly under his direction, as far as politics and public relations were concerned, but no one ever wondered what had become of Martin L. Davey.

Sauce for the Farmer

NOTHING about congress has been more certain this session than the maneuver by which a coalition of farmer sympathizers in the senate tacked farm price increases on the bill to put a 65-cent floor under industrial wages.

Politically, this was as obvious as kissing a baby or handing out a campaign cigar. In a political sense, it amounted simply to saying that what was sauce for the wage earner was sauce for the farmer.

Economically, it may mean a great many other things, but the senate debate preceding the vote on the amendment to give farmers a better break on parity prices shows that senators themselves were badly confused about the economic implications. They did understand the political implications, however, there being their specialty.

It goes without saying that the outcome is a 10-strike for the farm bloc loyalties and an embarrassment for the opposition, which includes the Truman administration. President Truman by promising to veto the amendment to give farmers a bigger cut of the inflation pie has alienated farm support. He has widened the breach in the Democratic party. He has given additional comfort to the coalition of opponents in both parties who seem determined to make him lie in the bed in which his political strategy of chumming with CIO-PAC has placed him.

The administration bill to raise minimum wage rates was political. The amendment to put farmers aboard the inflation gravy train was political. One crowd of politicians outsmarted another crowd.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Byrnes Swings French Vote Away from Russia.

WASHINGTON, April 3—Mr. Byrnes, the state secretary, revealed an unexpected but effective part in the fight for what was judged to be big excitement in getting the French man, Henri Bonnet, on the UNO-Iran committee to cast the deciding vote.

The French government, since DeGaulle went out, has been considered another vote for Russia, a hidden, embarrassed, but practically sure Communist vote. But their exiled ambassador-in, Mr. Leon Blum, arrived in Washington with his hand out for $2,500,000,000 from us at the same time Bonnet's hand was extended with the deciding vote between Messrs. Byrnes and Gromyko on the committee of the UNO security council.

At it turned out, there was no deal on in the committee, no vote for Bonnet to decide. The committee could not even get to that. It avoided all three perils now for action, and failed to agree on anything but the disagreement and the ultimate effort of bringing more considerations of the Iran matter before the council. So Mr. Byrnes won his program.

Of such subtleties is diplomacy composed these days—but deeper, Leslie!

Action Against Spain

The French government, led by the Communists, had tried earlier to force the United States and Britain into aggressive action to throw out the Franco government of Spain. Both Byrnes and the British went along with a three-power manifesto and white paper condemning Franco, but when it came to moving troops, the Communist dominated government of France waved the sword but generally alone. They moved troops up to the Spanish frontier, which is now an armed camp on both sides. The United States government knows if France, goaded by outside Communist pressure, Spain will get a Communist dominated government which may be even less cooperative with us than the Franco regime and more isolated. So we are changing to this new Spanish policy, if Franco is to be overthrown, the Spaniards must do it. Meanwhile, we will continue to send some moderate economic aid to the people, including oil and gasoline, as we did during the war.

But when Blum went here seeking big money for France, and Bonnet played on a spot by Byrnes in UNO, the French government has decided on a step of appeasement to the United States here in order. The Socialist party in full assemblage, and in full knowledge of its government coalition with the Communists, recommended last Sunday a new French foreign policy of closer cooperation with the United States in foreign affairs and cooperation with Russia (Communism) in domestic affairs. This will take doing, but the French have usually been equal to such occasions. For the present, the change means only the French may accept our recommendations for internationalization of the Ruhr and Saar, and settlement of German questions. Most American authorities, however, expect the change toward closer general cooperation to be temporary, that is, until Mr. Blum gets the money.

Blum Refuses Post

The comedy of complexities reaches its highest point in the fact that Mr. Blum himself refused to go into the cabinet of the French government. While he was willing to undertake its financial mission to America, he declined a cabinet job and is known to regard his government somewhat skeptically.

Indeed the common authoritative inside opinion here is that the Communist-Socialist coalition is merely now going through a phase of proving itself to be unpopular. It cannot get the food or clothing necessary to become popular, unless Mr. Blum gets the two and a half billion dollars or more from us, it then.

As soon as this course of developing unpopularity has been run an overturn of the government is expected in France, a change which will relegate the Communists to a less important position.

THE STAFF PREPARES FOR G-DAY

The Army is mobilizing for another vigorous campaign.

From the war department has gone out a directive to all commanding officers ordering the immediate launching of post-victory gardens.

There's a new angle for the current recruiting campaign. "Join The Army and See The Earth—A Shovelful At A Time."

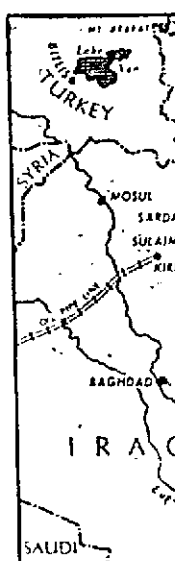
Shortly now, rookies will be given their choice of weapons: rake, spade or grubbing hoe.

One can just see the warriors, lined up in battle array, awaiting zero hour and the attack on that ubiquitous and ingenious foe, the lemon weed.

This new operation presents a challenge to the medical corps. It did a great job with combat injuries and battle fatigue, but can it cope with broken blisters, aching backs and other row-crop casualties?

Not to be outdone, the Navy will doubtless adopt a similar program. In fact, with a couple of acres of topsoil and a covering crop, some of our bigger aircraft carriers might well end up with cattle on the flight deck.

Kurds in Iranian Whey



THE BLACK AREA is the area in which the Kurds are attempting to set up a new independent state. The shaded area is that in which they have lived for centuries.

* * *

By CLARKE BEACH
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — The Kurds, still cocky and vigorous after 4,000 troubled years on one of the stormiest crossroads of the world, have proclaimed an independent Kurdish state in northern Iran, where Russian occupation forces have caused international controversy.

Warlike and virile nomads, the Kurds ever since the dawn of history have been resisting conquerors or building up empires themselves.

They are the real aristocracy of the human race, with pure Aryan blood (in the scientific, not the Nazi sense) in their veins and with names that are older than Babylon. Among their ancestors were some of the greatest men of the ancient world. Their family portraits are carved in rock on high mountain cliffs southwest of the Caspian Sea, where they have held their landed estates for thousands of years.

Cover a Wide Area

The general area they inhabit is called Kurdistan. The name also is applied specifically to provinces in northern Iran and easternmost Turkey. They are scattered through the Zagrees mountains, south of Mount Ararat, where the Bible says Noah's ark came to rest, and their home land extends through the border regions of Turkey, Iran and Iraq. About 125,000 of them are mixed among the Armenians on Russia's southern border.

Kurdish population estimates range from 1,500,000 to 4,500,000. It is generally agreed that about half the Kurds live in Turkey, some authorities say there are less than 1,000,000 in Iran and possibly about 500,000 in Iraq.

Living in tents of black goat's hair, most of them migrate with their flock of goats and fat-tail sheep to high mountains in the summer and the valleys in winter. Those who have settled in villages live in one or two-room houses built of sun dried mud brick or rough stones set in mud plaster. They raise wheat, barley, rice, tobacco, cotton, grapes and various fruits.

Warlike Traits Prevail

The tribes are continually warring among themselves, raiding their neighbors or robbing caravans and trucks. Clannish and perpetually feuding, they have seldom been united for any prolonged time. They once formed a brief union under Shah-i-Armens, Kurdish king of the Armenians; and again under Saladin, another Kurd, who led the Mohammedans against the Crusaders in the twelfth century.

They are physically one of the finest races in the world—of medium build, muscular, sharp-featured, healthy, with quick natural intelligence. Some of them have received excellent European educations, and there is a movement to adopt a common language for all tribes. Their most progressive town is Sulaimaniya, in Iraq, with a population of 20,000, modern hospitals, schools and a newspaper.

The newspapers in the Kurdish tongue lately have been urging all Kurds to rebel. They still resent the Allies' having broken their promise to set up an independent Kurdish state after World War I, as a recompense for aiding the Allied cause. It was chiefly Turkey's objections which caused the Allies to abandon the project.

On the Road to China

The mountain passes among which they live have been avenues of commerce and pathways for invaders throughout recorded history. Camel caravans from China traversed the roads to take silk to Roman markets in the Black Sea ports and to Antioch in Syria. Marco Polo visited them, and the armies of Alexander the Great passed through their territory.

Sumerian records of 2,000 B. C. mentioned the Kurds. One of the Kurdish tribes conquered Akkad, in Babylonia, and ruled it for six centuries (1800 - 1200 B. C.). The Kurds helped Cyrus overthrow Nineveh and Babylon, and Persian kings for centuries employed the Kurdish cavalry.

The Kurds fought all the great Assyrian monarchs and finally absorbed the remnants of the Assyrian nation. The Medes, who descended upon Belshazzar at his feast, also were absorbed by the Kurds.

Their territory was invaded by the Arabs in the seventh century, by Genghis Kahn in the 13th century and by the Turks in the 16th century. But none of the conquerors was able to control them for long. From Herodotus and Xenephon to the latest historians to visit them, all agree that the Kurdish tribes are tough and not to be assimilated. Rebellion in Kurdistan is an old, old story.

Move To Fill Pews

LONDON—Elimination of dull sermons and revision of prayer methods to avoid "gabbling" were prescribed here recently as cures for empty church pews at the conclusion of a six months' survey of England's parishes. The committee recommended more sociability among worshippers, better-timed services, and toning down of choirs as constructive steps towards attendance.

THEY'RE BOTH RIGHT

Army "Caste" Under Fire

By Jack Stinnett

WASHINGTON — The Army's own investigation of the so-called "military caste" system might well be the source of some of the greatest changes in officer-enlisted man relationship in 150-odd years.

The very hush-hush hearings already are under way. It probably will be mid-May or later before a report is made public.

Secretary of War Patterson's appointment of the investigating board was quite a surprise. Even more surprising was its membership. Headed by Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle, all six of the members are reservists. Not one West Point man in the carload.

However, there already are complaints. One is that the board is officer-packed. This is a little ridiculous. All six were at one time enlisted men. Two of the members were discharged as sergeants. They are former T-Sgt. Jake Lindsay, who won the congressional medal of honor in the infantry and now works for the Veterans Administration at Lexington, Mass.; and former Sgt. Meryl Frost of Hanover, N. H., who was a bombardier in the Air Forces and was badly wounded in Italy. He is now a vice president of the Air Forces Association.

Up Through Ranking

The other four are former officers, but they all came up the traditional hard way—through the ranks. Other than Gen. Doolittle, they are: former paratroop Capt. Adna H. Underhill, Greenville, N. Y., now employed by the New York State Conservation Department; Lt. Col. Robert Neville, formerly with Stars and Stripes in the Mediterranean theater, and one of the chief critics of the caste system; and former Lt. Gen. Troy H. Middleton, hero of the North African and Sicilian campaigns and now comptroller general of Louisiana State university.

Arguing that he wanted no possible charge of regular army influence levelled against the board, Gen. Doolittle insisted that the hearings be held at some other place than the Pentagon Building.

All of the hearings are "executive"—which means that the press is barred. Gen. Doolittle's contention is that better results will be obtained from informal discussions, without putting witnesses on the spot through fear that their test may make tomorrow's headlines.

Not One-Sided

The committee doesn't plan to concentrate on adverse criticism of the military caste system. Some persons who approve of the present officer-enlisted man relationship will be called. Civilians and Red Cross workers who served with the GIs in the field also will be asked to state their views.

During the revolution Gen. George Washington called on Baron Von Steuben to give some semblance of organization to the hodge-podge Continental Army. There has been little change since then of that Prussian general's concept of relationship between officers and enlisted men.

Daily Bible Thought

Some great ones can make life seem great and beautiful. Their companionship is priceless. Avoid those who make your hearts dull and heavy within you. "Did not our hearts glow within us?"—Luke 24:32.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

A 1956 Baby Speaks

(APOLOGIES TO THOMAS HOOD)

I REMEMBER, I remember
The house where I was born—
The crevices and cracks through which
The sun peeped in each morn—
The ceilings low, the shaky walls,
The fragile, lumpy floors,
The windows loose and noisy and
The tissue-paper doors!

II

I remember, I remember
The cockeyed shape and size—
The modernistic gadgets and
Contraptions not to prize!
The buttons all around the house
When drove my folks berserk—
(We should have seen at night, I guess,
The darned things would not work).

III

I remember, I remember
The building's screwball lines—
It had a little bit of all
Those postwar-home designs;
The bathroom-presto —folded up—
The two would disappear—
The kitchen-sink would roll away
When thrown into third gear!

IV

The pecrooms were on tables hung
And up they went by day
To give way to a music room
A den or cabaret;
The kitchen worked on rollers and
When dishes all were done
We'd make a playroom of the place
And have the "mostest" fun!

V

A button moved the pantry out
And put a guestroom in!
We threw a darling little switch
And back it came again!
The dining room could be made small
Or medium or large
(And pressing lever Number Eight
Would make it a garage!)

VI

I remember, I remember
My father's sad, sad tale
Of how he was a veteran
And got the home by mail;
He ordered it by catalogue
And got a G.I. loan
For ten times what the shack was worth
But, still, it was his OWN!

VII

I remember, I remember
My father always said,
"I am I'd bought a rugged home—
Old-fashioned like instead";
"One thing," he said, "a veteran
Inside his hat should paste:
'When you go out to buy a home
Don't ever buy in haste.'"

Walter Reuther won the presidency of the Automobile Workers Union by 138 votes out of a total of 8,000. We had rather expected the victory would be by 18½ ballots and that the cheering would have lasted 18½ minutes.

We await the Squawk of 1946 next week when the racing season opens in New York without any daily double. The abolition of the double was announced last autumn, but most fans took it with a grain of salt and their cry when they reach the track and find no daily double will be is going to be "Why wasn't I told?"

New York in abolishing the daily double takes a holier than thou attitude over California, Maryland, Kentucky, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Florida. We wouldn't be surprised to see it voting to abolish the loudspeaker, the electric starting stalls and the saliva-drinking cup.

Any funnies?

(Released by The Associated Newspapers, Inc.)

Three Cheers

By Truman Twill

The fun-poking that fuddy-duddies are doing at roundhouses designed by R. Buckminster Fuller must be very hard to bear. But don't let them hurt your feelings, Buck.

Here's one convert who can think of a few things than a round house made of aluminum suspended from a pole. Here is one convert who has lived in worse things—and they were held up by anything but high rent.

Some of us fellows supposed to be handy around the house would like to have a round house to be handy around. As for what the thing looks like, who ever said the ones we're living in now were things of beauty?

Take those dillies with the gingerbread trimming. Or the jobs with the gables that look exactly like architectural goose pimples. Or the General Grants. What prizes did they ever win?

Let's be frank and earnest about the way they're put together inside too, Buck. Your house has pie-shaped rooms, each room having solid window space on the outside. Our house have rooms shaped like other pastries, some with no windows at all.

Our houses have to be painted. Your house can be kept clean with a hose and scouring powder. Our houses have to be vent'lated by windows that won't open. In your house the windows aren't made to be opened, and the air comes in through a whingus on top. We will settle for the whingus, Buck.

The termites take one look at your house, and it makes every tooth in their body ache. Likewise with mice and rats. Your house can be put together in less than a week, ready to start living in. The jobs we've been enduring are never finished. The missus always wants to change something.

The fuddy-duddies say they don't like houses that look alike. We've cased plenty of your joints and so have you, Buck. The same old fast nooks, stairs, fireplaces and bathrooms. The same look on the outside too, if you're hard enough—plastered with mortgages.

Confidentially, Buck, these are the people who wanted the automobile to keep on looking like the buggy, who pine for the good old days of Cal Coolidge, demand the same thing year in and year out, think John L. Sullivan was the greatest thing ever done in muscles, can't imagine the New Deal is the last word in nothing.

They're stuck in a rut, that's their trouble, and skittish about the world of tomorrow because they quit growing in the world of yesterday. Don't let them bother you, Buck old boy. You can always fall back on us progressive reformers. Your brain baby looks like a winner. What have we got to lose, or haven't you got our place?

Schools Face Book Scarcity

NEW YORK—Many GI's and other students currently crowding American schools and colleges may find themselves without books unless steps are taken to offset a growing shortage of textbooks, publishers here indicated in a recent report.

Continuing paper shortage, lack of manufacturing facilities, and the inability of publishers and educators to estimate future school registrations were given as chief reasons for the shortage.

Ohio Congressman Invites U. S. To Get Out of Food Business

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 3—Rep. Thomas A. Jenkins of Ohio offers the government this recipe for food for 1946:

"Get out of the food business."

Chairman of the Republican food study committee, Jenkins told a newsman:

"Food is like a river. If it is not interrupted it will flow naturally from its source—the producer—to its destination—the consumer.

"The function of government is to encourage the natural flow of food by removing unnecessary regulations and obstacles, and to guarantee adequate production that there may be no inadequate consumption."

Sees Socialism

Suggesting that there should be no federal interference except to prevent scarcities, Jenkins said: "When the government has the authority to fix the prices of every commodity, our cherished system of free enterprise will be gone and socialism will scourge us."

"During the war," Jenkins said, "we had many serious food situations. Much of our trouble was due to fallacious policies and unwise and inefficient administration.

"A great mistake was made in fixing price control at the consumer level. We tried to regulate the river by damming up the mouth. This put the greatest burden on the small man—the butcher and the grocer.

"To try to equalize prices we paid many billions of dollars in subsidies. But the butcher and the grocer did not get any of these subsidies.

"From this condition, created by the government, rose the greatest system of black markets the world ever saw. Law-abiding businessmen lost their profits and went out of business.

"The black market man had a big business. He violated the law—people pain him exorbitant prices—and his profits were tremendous."

Lists Points

Jenkins proposed two factors "that formerly contributed mightily to a successful food business:"

1. Efficient distribution.
2. Quality of merchandise.

"Many thousands of successful grocers and butchers who had made themselves successful by courtesy and cleanliness and efficient methods were forced out of business by ruthless regulations," Jenkins said.

"Those who wrote the regulations gave no consideration to courtesy and quality. Quality was subordinated to price."

Music Festival To Be Presented at Morral

A spring musical festival will be presented at the Morral school gymnasium Thursday night at 7:30, and will include an operetta by grades one to six, a minstrel by the High School Glee club, selections by the various music organizations of the school, and novelty numbers. Mrs. Elise Hoover, music instructor, is directing the program. Various presentations will be the operetta, "Peter Rabbit," music by the band, orchestra, mixed chorus, girls' glee club, mixed ensemble, and a musical skit by the girls' ensemble, "Alice Blue Gown." Admission tickets will be available at the door.

FORMER MARIONITE TAKES O.S.U. POST

James M. Fisher Jr. Takes Faculty Position.

James M. Fisher, Jr., son of Rev. and Mrs. James M. Fisher of Cameron, W. Va., formerly of Marion, has accepted a position as an assistant instructor in the psychology department at Ohio State university, Columbus. He assumed his duties as a member of the staff at the beginning of the spring quarter and is teaching general psychology.

A graduate of Harding school in 1936 he attended Ohio university, graduating in 1942. He recently was discharged from the armed forces after serving as a lieutenant in the Army for 45 months. His assignments in the Army were as a clinical psychologist at various Army general hospitals where he worked with both neuro-psychiatric and brain injured patients. He plans to return to Cameron at the end of the quarter at State and spend the summer with his family. He expects to enter the University of Iowa in the fall to continue his graduate studies toward his Ph. D. degree.

Since resigning as associate minister of the First Presbyterian church here Rev. Fisher served as pastor at New Martinsville, W. Va. for more than six years and his present charge at Cameron, W. Va. In taking over the pastorate at Cameron, Rev. Fisher returned to his first church where he was ordained in the Presbyterian ministry in 1916. In addition to his pastorate Rev. Fisher is the stated clerk in the Wheeling presbytery.

Miss Dorothy Fisher, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Fisher, who was graduated from Harding High school in 1933, also was graduated from the St. Louis Institute of Music and Washington University at St. Louis, Mo., and has been supervisor of music in the Warrenton High school at Warrenton, Va., for the last two years.

New Homes for VETERANS

Frank Postell, one of Marion's well known builders of good homes, in cooperation with the Marion Federal Savings and Loan Association, now has under construction, or planned, a group of twenty-one homes, all located on either side of Merchant Avenue, between East Church Street and Indiana Avenue, which will be a section of all new homes in a very desirable location. These homes will be one and two story, five and six rooms, all of distinctive style and complete in every detail, including landscaping.

Materials to be used in this project are being obtained through HH Preference Ratings, which requires that eligible veterans only be given an opportunity to buy these homes during the period of construction, and for thirty days after completion. In the event they are not sold to veterans during this period, they will be available for purchase by non veterans, at the same prices.

Ceiling prices, as fixed by FHA as agent for the Civilian Production Administration, range from $8,662 to $8,995. Arrangements have been made with the Marion Federal Savings and Loan Association for financing these homes for qualifying veterans through the GI Bill of Rights, which provides for monthly payments as low as $5.28 per thousand dollars borrowed.

These homes will all be completed as rapidly as possible, with some available for occupancy within the next ninety days. Plans and specifications, as well as pictures, may be examined and complete details obtained at the office of the Marion Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Whether it be a cottage costing a few hundred dollars, or a project involving many thousands, the MARION FEDERAL is always prepared to take care of your financing requirements.

Fred Grau, 83, Dies at Home in Bucyrus

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, April 3 — Funeral services will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. in Good Hope Lutheran church for Fred Grau, 83, retired railroad hostler, who died of a sudden heart attack while working in the garden at his Prospect street home Monday. Interment will be made in Oakwood cemetery.

Mr. Grau was born in Wurttemberg, Germany, and since coming to the states had lived in Bucyrus. He is survived by his widow, Caroline Fahl Grau and one son, George D. of Canton. Three daughters preceded in death. Also surviving are a grandson and two great granddaughters.

The Bible is printed in more than 1,068 languages.

Programs on the Air

Howard C. Peterson, assistant secretary of war, and Regan (Rex) McCrary, former AAF lieutenant colonel and now executive editor of the American Mercury, will argue for the extension of the selective service act when America's Town Meeting debates the question, 'Should We Continue the Draft Beyond May 15?' Thursday, at 8:30 p. m. over ABC. Opposing the affirmative views will be Millard Lampell, former sergeant in the AAF and author of the new book, "The Long Way Home," and Quincy Howe, radio commentator and editor of the publishing house of Simon and Schuster.

Apparently the post-war home television set is going to dip as low as possible into the price range. One figures mentioned is $150.

A Chicago manufacturer (Belmont) reports his engineers have just completed work on a model which he hopes to retail around that figure. Production is to get under way in time to start delivery in July.

The receiver, compactly designed for table use, has a seven-inch picture tube producing a sharp black and white image approximately 4½ by 6 inches. The cabinet is only 14½ inches high, 21 wide and 16 deep. The tuning range covers the 13 channels of the commercial television band.

HITS GRAIN FOR LIQUOR

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 3—Ohio Grangemaster Joseph W. Fichter says the government should prevent use of grain and sugar in making beverage alcohol during the world food crisis. A letter to Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson said in part: "Grange members are disturbed * * * when children are crying for bread, adults cannot justify the luxury of liquor."

INTERNATIONAL LAW BROKEN, KEITEL SAYS

By The Associated Press

NUERNBERG April 3 — Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel frankly testified today that many orders issued under his name represented deviations from existing international law and that it was his duty to take responsibility for what I have done even if it has been wrong

The former chief of the German high command one of 22 leading Germans on trial as war criminals told the international military tribunal

I am grateful to have the opportunity here and before the German people to give an account of those things For all officers subordinate to me I assume responsibility insofar as it is based on moral and legal principles

From the time Col Gen Werner Von Blomberg resigned as chief of the army in 1938 there was only one commander in chief —Hitler himself Keitel testified Von Blomberg died last month in the Nuernberg prison

Hitler issued orders to all three arms of the Wehrmacht directly the field marshal said There was no deputizing of power

Senator Wants Vote on Vardaman Post

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON April 3 — Senator McFarland (D-Ariz) told reporters today he would ask the senate to stay in session until midnight if necessary to reach a vote on the nomination of Commodore James K Vardaman Jr, to the federal reserve board

Two obstacles stymied the Vardaman supporters who claimed sufficient votes to confirm him for the 14 year term at $15 000 a year

Akron Workers Say City Can Boost Pay

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O, April 3 — Akron municipal employes, seeking an 18½-cent hourly pay raise, disputed today the city's claim it was unable to meet the request.

Floyd Rees head of the city sanitation department and a lawyer in his own right, attacked budget figures supplied by Finance Director John D Currie to show the city could not afford the raises.

'You had a $400 000 surplus last year and we believe you will have another for 1946," Rees told Currie The sanitation chief estimated the 18½-cent hourly pay increase would cost the city an additional $207,000 a year for workers paid from general taxation funds

RECONVERSION

flation made the first 1946 quarter "sobering and difficult"

"While production has been good it would have been even better if labor-management disputes had not put out the fires in steel furnaces stopped some automobile assembly lines, curtailed production of electric equipment and other vital components

These losses slowed down the flow of consumer goods to the market and increased the inflationary pressure which stem from shortages in the face of huge demand

Snyder forecast that the federal deficit for this fiscal year ending June 30 will be several billion dollars less than the 26 000 000 000 deficit mentioned in the January budget estimates

The report attributed this showing to the high level of national income which has kept tax payments at a good level and the fact that war expenditures are being cut faster than had been expected

Lists 'Solid Gains'

Among the solid gains of the quarter just closed Snyder listed

Major issues of wage and price adjustment have been met in a way to stimulate production without losing vital ground to the force of inflation

Labor-management contracts established in many major industries under collective bargaining should assure uninterrupted production

Vigorous programs have been formulated to meet the most critical shortages, most notably in textiles and housing

While saying these factors may relieve inflationary pressure to some extent Snyder singled out inflation as the single most serious threat to successful completion of reconversion

In a section not contained in previous reports Snyder dealt with four special problems of transition —the returning veteran housing the world-wide food shortage and the scarcity of low-priced clothing

His conclusions

Veterans—Not all the 5 500 000 discharged since VJ-day have been successful in finding jobs and it is up to the community to help the government in locating work for willing servicemen, also effective aid must be given schools and colleges so they can accommodate veterans seeking to complete their education under the GI bill of rights

Housing—The shortage will become more acute in the next few months, the emergency housing program cannot succeed until congress enacts 'necessary legislation' including price ceilings on existing dwellings and the proposed $600 000 000 in subsidies to the makers of building materials

Food—The United States will have to continue high food production for at least one more year, to offset a world-wide shortage which "has grown more critical in recent weeks' It is imperative, Snyder said, that congress authorize the payment of food subsidies "as long as they are needed during the fiscal year 1947"

Clothing—The shortage of low and medium-priced garments is more acute than at any time during the war, but price ceiling increases and sharpened priority controls have had "beneficial effects Despite the improvement of recent week, 'it will be more than a year before supply begins to overtake demand"

Truman Sees Peril in Farm "Rider"

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 3—President Truman said today inclusion of labor costs in a new farm parity formula would upset the reconversion apple cart.

The President expressed this view at a news conference when asked his reaction to the senate move hitching the farm parity amendment to the minimum wage bill.

The senate voted for the amendment, proposed by Senator Russell (D-Ga), despite a warning from Mr. Truman that he would veto the wage bill if it came to him with the parity rider.

Meanwhile, an agreement was reported among senators on a compromise bill raising the minimum industrial wage from 40 to 60 cents an hour.

HEALTH BILL HURT BY SENATE CLASH

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON April 3—The public "you're another' row between senators over national health legislation led Capitol Hill to revise downward today the chances of that phase of President Truman's program in the current congress

The U S public health service put its weight behind the administration measure today but there were signs that Republican forces hoped to substitute a less extensive proposal for the bill now under study by the senate education and labor committee

The committee hearings touched off fuctions when Senators Murray (D-Mont) and Taft (R-Ohio) got embroiled yesterday in acrimonious word swapping over the merits of the measure which would set up a $5 000 000 000 compulsory health insurance plan

Taft assailed the bill as "socialistic and promised to introduce a better one of his own

Murray angry at the interruption told Taft to "shut your mouth and later threatened to "call the officers and have you put out

PEACE TALKS REOPEN IN AKRON WALKOUT

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O April 3—Company and union representatives went back to the conference table today for negotiations toward settlement of the Rubber City's transit strike

As the walkout of CIO transport workers went into its third day Conciliators John L. Conner and Jack P Walsh brought leaders of the union and the Akron Transportation Co together at city hall

The city's school attendance was down about 10 per cent yesterday but major rubber factories said absenteeism was 'no greater than the normal five per cent'

The strike over wage demands by more than 400 bus and trolley operators halted all operations on the company's lines, and members of the AFL International Machinists union refused to cross picket lines

Major Charles E Slusser appealed to the strikers and company late yesterday to resume negotiations

Both sides said they were "willing a union statement declaring the road will be cleared' for a settlement as soon as the company makes an offer commensurate with that granted the steel, auto rubber and other industries

Lou Marsh As "Tom Breneman" Passes Orchids at Party Here

Columbian hall was transformed into Tom Breneman's popular dining spot for the "Breakfast in Hollywood" party given by members of Beta Gamma chapter Lambda Chi Omega sorority Tuesday night Approximately 250 guests were seated at gaily decorated tables and throughout the evening saw Lou Marsh as "Tom Breneman" award the wishing ring give orchids to the oldest guest present and to persons voted the good good neighbor" and distribute many other gifts.

The evening's "Mr. Breneman" interviewed the guests over the microphone and the program went on the air over WMRN for half an hour at 8 30 Assisting him were Miss Rosaline Manzo as "Bobby Filipino" and Robert Axe

Miss Irma Leonard of Columbus received the "wishing ring" and an orchid sent by Mr Breneman, was presented to Miss Katie la Smith of 231 Blaire avenue 88, the oldest guest present. The honor of being the "good good neighbor" went to Misses Mary Estabrook, Agnes and Anna Lawrence of 555 Avenida avenue who received an orchid Letters submitted in a response to the sorority's request for "good neighbor" nominees were judged prior to the "breakfast party" by a committee selected by the sponsors

Mrs Susan DeLorme of 303 North State street whose wedding took place 53 years ago was presented a gift and other awards went to the mother of the largest family most recent bride the person having the most recent birthday and other anniversaries and events.

Tom Breneman donned the "craziest" hat and the guests sang the "Breakfast in Hollywood Song Later refreshments were served by the sorority members

Proceeds of the party will be used by the sponsors to carry on the work of the national organization which includes a scholarship fund and support of a crippled children's hospital and local welfare work

OPA

An increase of that amount for milk he added would mean a hike of about six cents a pound for butter and about three cents for cheese

OPA and the agriculture department have recommended dairy product price boosts primarily to try to check declining production and if possible to increase output of fluid milk

A secondary reason officials said is a decision that something has to be done about strikes and threats of strikes in the industry In the last few weeks OPA has received scores of applications for price increases many of them prompted by imminent work stoppages

Rather than continue to handle these on an emergency area by area basis the government has decided there probably will have to be a fairly general price adjustment

Officials said milk production was dropping off principally because increased labor and feed costs were causing farmers to trim their dairy herds

They added that in the case of butter the basic trouble was that cream was being diverted to other more profitable products To change this OPA is considering an order to put cream for manufactured products under control

Bowles May Force Anderson To Act

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON April 3—Government officials said today Economic Stabilizer Chester Bowles may order Secretary of Agriculture Anderson to approve a production decree to check rising cotton clothing prices

These officials who asked anonymity said Bowles planned to do this unless Anderson decided soon to approve the measure voluntarily

Drawn up by OPA nearly three weeks ago on instructions from Bowles, it would require higher down payments on cotton sold for later delivery

The purpose Bowles has said is to check speculation in cotton which he contends has been a major factor in forcing up prices of cotton clothing

Bowles ordered cotton margins boosted after leading cotton exchanges had refused to do so voluntarily

But some cotton state senators opposed to the order contended that under the price control act the measure could not be put in to effect unless approved by Anderson And they reportedly urged the cabinet officer to block the order by refusing to sign it

Anderson took the position his signature was not required and said in an interview several days ago that the agriculture department 'will not be involved in ordering the higher payments

EDUCATOR SPEAKS AT CLUB MEETING

Joseph Strobel Addresses Rotarians on Vocation Training.

"National Education Looks to the Future was the top of a talk by Joseph Strobel at the Rotary club luncheon at Hotel Harding Tuesday

Mr Strobel of Columbus, state director of vocational education, stressed the fact that many boys and girls leave school after reaching the ninth grade. These are students who quit school because they do not feel that they are being offered subjects to train them in making a living These students then find that they are classed in the unskilled labor group and have little chance of advancement.

If schools offer vocational courses Mr Strobel believes that many of these students would complete their education and better prepare themselves for employment Mr Strobel explained that in vocational courses the pupil would work with the actual tools for half the day and be given class room instruction the other half In a two year course the pupil would make considerable progress toward becoming a skilled worker

Many of the larger cities in Ohio have vocational programs set up Mr Strobel said Smaller communities still have considerable progress to make in this direction he added

The meeting was opened by the singing of America Hall Hall a new member was introduced by Don Howard

Guests were Col John W Hutchings of Chicago, formerly commanding officer of the Scioto Ordnance plant Capt L. A Mayes of Columbus R N Antrey of London O A A Freeman, W F Orcutt Wilfred Schaffner, J H Bray Douglas Torrance Frank Robinson A C May Dr J L Thomas and Jack Philin all of Marion Virginia Haymer was the Harding reporter
